ORDER

On September 21, 2007, Petitioner commenced this proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254, claiming that his conviction was the product of various constitutional violations. In his petition, Petitioner set forth numerous grounds for relief, including challenges to certain evidentiary rulings, the sufficiency of the evidence against him, and the propriety of the sentence that the trial court imposed. See Dkt. No. 1. Respondent challenged the petition as untimely, as well as on the merits. See Dkt. No. 12.

In a Report-Recommendation & Order dated January 18, 2011, Magistrate Judge Lowe recommended that the Court dismiss the petition as untimely because Petitioner filed it one-day late and because Petitioner offered no basis to excuse his late filing. See Dkt. No. 17. In a Memorandum-Decision and Order dated March 31, 2011, this Court accepted Magistrate Judge Lowe's January 18, 2011 Report-Recommendation and Order in its entirety, denied and dismissed Petitioner's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, and ordered that no Certificate of Appealability would issue with respect to any of Petitioner's claims. See Dkt. No. 20 at 42. Petitioner appealed. See Dkt. No. 22.

On appeal, Petitioner, through counsel, argued that "there are also facts in this case, if developed during the hearing petitioner requested, that would support a finding that [P]etitioner diligently pursued his rights." White v. Conway, No. 11-1362, Dkt. No. 31-2 (2d Cir. May 13, 2011). Subsequently, Petitioner filed a pro se addendum with the Second Circuit. See White v. Conway, No. 11-1362, Dkt. No. 42-1 (2d Cir. July 12, 2011). In that addendum, Petitioner asserted that his petition was one day late because his attorney had misunderstood when it was due and delayed filing it.

While Petitioner's appeal was pending, the Second Circuit issued its decision in Dillon v. Conway, 642 F.3d 358 (2d Cir. 2011), the case that Petitioner had raised in his supplemental objections to Magistrate Judge Lowe's Report-Recommendation & Order.

On August 23, 2011, the Second Circuit issued a mandate remanding this case to this Court. In that mandate, the Second Circuit stated that limitations is appropriate because, inter alia, [his] counsel agreed to file the petition early; indeed completed the petition early; yet forced [him] to entrust his appeal to the vagaries of the mail by insisting on waiting for [his] unneeded signature to arrive by mail. [Petitioner] notes that if he had filed the petition pro se, it would have been deemed timely filed under the prison mailbox rule. See Houston v. Lack, 487 U.S. 266, 270-71 (1980).

[Petitioner] argues that equitable tolling of the AEDPA statute of

In light of this Court's decision in Dillon v. Conway, 642 F.3d 358 (2d Cir. 2011), we remand to the district court for reconsideration of [Petitioner's] entitlement to equitable tolling and for any necessary additional factfinding.

See Dkt. No. 26 at 2.

Although Petitioner listed this Court's treatment of the merits of his petition as one ground for his appeal and Respondent's brief mentioned several times that this Court had reached the merits of the case, the Second Circuit did not address the fact that this Court's had dismissed the petition on its merits.

After the remand, Petitioner, through counsel, requested that "additional factfinding be conducted through a hearing scheduled . . . at which the [P]etitioner will offer testimony and exhibits relevant to the Court's determination concerning the application of equitable tolling."

See Dkt. No. 29 at 1. On January 5, 2012, Magistrate Judge Lowe conducted a telephone conference, during which he requested that counsel submit letter-briefs discussing whether this Court needed to conduct an evidentiary hearing in order to comply with the Second Circuit's mandate. See Text Minute Entry dated January 5, 2012. The parties submitted the requested letter-briefs. See Dkt. Nos. 34-36. In an Order and Report-Recommendation dated April 3, 2012, Magistrate Judge Dancks recommended that this Court conclude that Petitioner was entitled to equitable tolling to excuse the untimeliness of his petition and that this Court deny and dismiss the petition on the merits for the reasons that this Court had stated in its March 31, 2011 Memorandum-Decision and Order. See Dkt. No. 38 at 12.

Currently before the Court are the parties' objections to Magistrate Judge Dancks' recommendations. Specifically, Petitioner objects to Magistrate Judge Dancks' recommendation that the Court should dismiss his petition on the merits. See generally Dkt. No. 39. Defendant objects to Magistrate Judge Dancks' recommendation that this Court conclude that Petitioner was entitled to equitable tolling. See Dkt. No. 40 at 1-2.

In his objections, Petitioner raises substantially the same arguments that he previously raised in his memorandum of law in support of his petition. The Court thoroughly addressed those arguments in its March 31, 2011 Memorandum-Decision and Order. See Dkt. No. 14-41. Petitioner has not raised any additional arguments that would cause the Court to reach a conclusion different than the one that it previously reached. Accordingly, the Court hereby

ORDERS that Magistrate Judge Dancks' recommendation that the Court find that Petitioner is entitled to equitable tolling under Dillon v. Conway, 642 F.3d 358 (2d Cir. 2011) (per curiam) is ACCEPTED for the reasons stated in her April 3, 2012 Order and Report-Recommendation; and the Court further

ORDERS that Petitioner's petition is DENIED and DISMISSED on the merits for the reasons stated in this Court's March 31, 2011 Memorandum-Decision and Order; and the Court further ORDERS that no Certificate of Appealability shall be issued with respect to any of Petitioner's claims.
